

MAIL TODAY

INDIA have found four promising pacers of the future, thanks to the Gatorade Pacers Hunt 2010.

The innovative talent-hunt initiative by the world's largest-selling sports drink brand Gatorade, Vrinder Singh (Mohali, U-19), Gurudas Shenoy (Mumbai, U-22), Maninder Sidhu (Mohali, U-22), Raman Chahar (Delhi, U-22) have got a lifetime opportunity to hone their bowling skills at the ICC Global Cricket Academy (ICC GCA) headed by former Aussie great Rodney Marsh for seven days.

The four aspiring pacers were chosen after an intense nation-wide one month-long talent search by Gatorade Pacers 2010, spearheaded by former Indian fast bowler Manoj Prabhakar. The four youngsters will also be joined by the winners of the Gatorade Pacers 2007-2009.